Michael Kohn, New Alexandria, charged with burglary and larceny in looting the Summers store at North Georgetown, pleaded guilty. He will be sentenced later.

"I Don't Want Anything To Eat," Declares Marion Man Who is to "Go West" Tonight.

GOVERNOR ONLY HOPE OF SLAYER

Appalling Silence Hangs Over Condemned Row Where Three Other Doomed Men Held.

By John J. Vincent.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Everett Koon may not be executed tonight.

This was the indication at noon here today, following a conference between Gov. Cooper and the state clemency board.

OHIO STATE PENITENTIARY, COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—"I don't want anything to eat. All I want is a new trial."

This was the heart-rending, soul-racking appeal of convict number 59007 in death row here, who is to "go west" via the electric chair about 7:30 tonight, when asked by prison officials what he wished for his last meal.

Killed Aged Farmer.
That convict, with the brand of the first murderer, Cain, stamped heavily across his brow, is everett Koon, 28, alias Cecil Dean, convicted slayer of a 73-year-old Marion county farmer. But names mean little here. It is by numbers that men are known.

One hope remains. Only the hand of the governor can stay the "thunderbolt of the law."

An appalling, terrible silence, prompted by fear of death, hung over death row. Three other doomed men also occupy cells there, in "The Tomb of the Living Dead." But all were silent.

A grim reminder to those three, they too, are scheduled to take the walk through the "little green door" in the near future.

The Marion county man, who is escorted to the death cell immediately adjacent to the death house about 5 o'clock tonight. Only a thickness of a wall separates the narrow room from society's "instrument of death."

Warden Orders Chicken Dinner.
A meal will then be set before him. As the prisoner would not order his last dinner Warden P. E. Thomas said the menu would consist of chicken and all fixings.

After the last repast, the prison chaplain will visit the man, to offer him the consolation of God in the hour of death.

At approximately 7:30 o'clock, the guards will escort him to the death house, where he will be strapped to the chair, where the black mask will be put on.

T. H. HODGE, 70, POTTER, DIES
Thomas H. Hodge, 70, potter, died today in his home, 671 Walnut street, after a year's illness.

Mr. Hodge, who was born in Lockport, N. Y., had lived here for 50 years. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and Men's Bible class.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Margaret S. Hodge; one son, Nelson Hodge, Detroit, and two brothers, William J. and Robert J. Hodge of Cincinnati.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in charge of the Rev. J. H. Lawther, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Yellow Creek cemetery.

Bandit Holds up Cigar Store
CLEVELAND, Feb. 15.—Police today were seeking a lone bandit who held up a Schulte's cigar store in the heart of the downtown section here last night, escaping with the contents of the cash register. John Beres, clerk, and one customer, were in the store at the time. The loot amounted to about $75.

RECENT PHOTOS OF "WE" AND HIS CO - PILOT

Here are late photographs of Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of Ambassador Dwight Morrow, and her father, Charles A. Lindbergh, the pilot of the Spirit of St. Louis.

Col. Lindbergh Hops For Sapelo Island

Ace of Ocean Fliers, Jumping From Miami, Fla., Declines to Reveal Destination—May Go to Washington.

SAPELO ISLAND, Ga., Feb. 15.—Nosing his way out of a murky sky, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 11:23 a. m. today to spend a few hours as the guest of Howard E. Coffin on his island estate.

A short while before the colonel landed here, he passed over throngs on Sea Island waiting for his arrival. He circled the isle and then proceeded toward Sapelo.

He plans to stay here only a few hours, and then go to Washington.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from the Pan-American airport here at 7:37 this morning for an unannounced destination.

It was expected he will fly direct to Brunswick, Ga., and thence to Sapelo island to spend a few hours as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Coffin on their island estate.

If the flying colonel has the time to spend on Sapelo island, a pheasant hunt has been arranged for him during the afternoon.

Although Col. Lindbergh himself declined to reveal his plans, advices from Brunswick said he probably would take off from Sapelo island late in the afternoon for Washington.

The flier is to go to Washington for several conferences with Pan-American officials before setting out on an aerial survey of the east and west transcontinental air mail route.

Before taking off Lindbergh stated:

CALL WHITE WAY MEETING TONIGHT
All property owners in streets to be included in the proposed "white way" system have been invited to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce in the chamber's quarters in the Little building at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Representatives of the Ohio Power company will submit plans for the proposed system.

EXTRADITE MAN ON VOTING COUNT
COLUMBUS, Feb. 15.—Because he is alleged to have voted twice in the November election, James C. Roy, Akron man, but who now is in Washington, D. C., found himself entangled in the meshes of the law today.

Gov. Cooper issued a requisition on the chief justice of District of Columbia, requesting Roy's return to Akron.

Roy is accused of voting by mail, and again in person.

COUNCIL PLAN IS VETOED BY R. C. BENEDUM

Holds Work on Part of Thoroughfare is "Not Necessary."

EXPLAINS ACTION

Favors Resurfacing From Green Lane to Lincoln Ave.

Holding the improvement of a portion of the thoroughfare is "not necessary," Mayor Ralph C. Benedum today vetoed the councilmanic resolution calling for the resurfacing of East Seventh street, formerly Smith street, between Dresden and Lincoln avenues.

Passed by Six-to-one Vote.
The executive, in his message to council, pointed out that the street from Dresden avenue to Green lane is in "fair condition" and "with a little repair it could be put in excellent condition." At the same time he expressed a willingness to sign legislation for the surfacing of the street between Green lane and Lincoln avenue.

The veto will be submitted to council at next Monday night's meeting but 10 days must elapse before it can be acted upon. The resolution was enacted on three reads under suspension of the rules by a vote of six to one, Councilman Hughes dissenting.

Mayor's Message.
The mayor's veto message follows: "I am returning herewith your resolution, passed on Feb. 4, declaring it necessary to improve Smith street from Dresden avenue to Lincoln avenue, which I have vetoed."

"I have taken this action after a careful study of the resolution and it is my opinion that it is not necessary to improve this street for its entire length but only that part of it from Green lane to the east line of Lincoln street. Smith street from Dresden avenue to Green lane is already paved and in a very fair condition. With a little repair at the Horn switch and at other places it could be put in excellent condition; and it seems folly to me to force property owners abutting on this part of the street to put down an entire new street. In fact, it seems so much so that I believe that they could go into court and obtain a permanent injunction against the improvement of this part of the street."

"Smith street from Green lane to Lincoln avenue is an entire new street, the city just recently having purchased the necessary ground to open same, and it needs paying at once. This is particularly necessary on account of the great volume of traffic that will eventually go over this street. I will be glad to sign promptly a resolution for this part of the street. We must always bear in mind that the city's share in any improvement is paid from taxation and any time we improve any street or part of street, which is not necessary, we put that much more of a burden upon the taxpayers. We should aim to make every needed improvement possible but we must also keep in mind the added expense to the people and not overburdened by unnecessary work."

MOTHER IS ILL, OHIOAN PARDONED
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Roy Hampton, Lorain county, convicted dry law violator who was serving out a $500 fine in the Toledo workhouse, was a free man today, following the pardon granted him by Gov. Cooper.

Hampton was arrested in Huron county Sept. 27, 1928, on a charge of transporting liquor, and when fined $500 he was unable to pay it.

Because of illness of the man's mother, and recommendations from the trial judge and state prohibition commissioner, the man was released, Gov. Cooper said.

AKRON WORKER ELECTROCUTED
AKRON, Feb. 15.—An investigation was under way today into the death of Frank Kobay, 49, an elevator worker who was instantly killed last night when he came in contact with a high voltage wire. Kobay was repairing a freight elevator in the warehouse of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company when he was electrocuted.

COL. LINDBERGH is to marry Miss Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador to Mexico. No marriage could interest or please the American people more. Many American girls from the Atlantic to the Pacific will now change their plans and select another hero for their dreams.

It is pleasing to know that the chain of Lindbergh's ancestry, stretching back across the ocean to powerful men in the North, is not to be broken.

TRAVELING east from Chicago on the Pennsylvania Limited, you read in Paul Block's Pittsburgh Post-Gazette the heading "DOLLAR OR DAUGHTER."

John Borkoski, who worked in the Pennsylvania mines for 30 years, and was, as his wife said, "always smiling, never hurting anybody," lay dead in an adjoining room, his body kicked and battered, according to charges, by the "coal and iron police."

MRS. BORKOSKI, sad but not hysterical, said, "The coal cops are always on the lookout for a man with a dollar, a pretty wife or a young daughter, some of them as young as 12 or 13."

MR. BLOCK'S newspaper tells you that Allegheny legislators, "roused by the savage murder of John Borkoski, slugged and stamped to death by coal and iron police," will try to wipe out the private police system.

IT WOULD seem to be about time. Property must be protected, but what would property say if the miners organized a police force of their own with barracks, repeating rifles, etc.?

The moral is that dollars are well organized and can do what men, badly organized, cannot do.

ARGUING against vivisection, in Albany, Assemblyman Vaughan suggests that murderers, instead of dogs, be used for experiments. He thought that would be better than "putting the murderer in the electric chair." The murderer probably would think not.

NOT long ago murderers, and lesser criminals, especially those that had annoyed royalty, were subjected to most horrible tortures without any

LOCK TENDER IS RESCUED AS FRIEND DROWNS

Thomas Potts, 52, Loses His Life at Sewickley.

SKIFF CAPSIZES

George Bruce Holds to Cake of Ice in River.

George Bruce, formerly of Newell, lock tender at Dam No. 3 near Sewickley, Pa., narrowly escaped drowning yesterday when the skiff in which he and Thomas Potts, 52, a fellow worker, were riding, capsized in the Ohio river.

Potts lost his life but Bruce, holding to a cake of ice, was rescued by other employees of the dam who heard his calls for help. He was exhausted when taken from the icy water.

The two men were placing signal lights on the dam when their skiff was struck by a large cake of ice. The craft overturned, throwing both occupants into the water. Potts' body was not recovered.

Bruce was employed at the No. 8 dam for about two years.

U. S. Needs Million Dollars In Legal Aid in Rum Trials
Attorney General Asks Help in Federal Courts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The government needs a million dollars worth of additional legal talent to help clear up the congestion of liquor cases in federal courts.

submitted to the budget bureau a request for additional funds with which to employ special attorneys to prepare cases for trial. The exact amount asked for was not divulged, but it is understood something more than $1,000,000 was mentioned.

The request for the million will go to congress along with the treasury request for $2,570,000 for tightening up the customs and prohibition laws.

Amusements

MEIGHAN SCORES IN "MATING CALL"

Thomas Meighan offers once again, this time in "The Mating Call," one of the most entertaining pictures of the season. "The Mating Call" opened today at Ceramic theater.

Unlike his last film, "The Racket," in which he made a nationwide hit,

"The Mating Call" packs a powerful heart-punch. It has all the elements of suspense and thrills which "The Racket," carried, possessing in addition an abundance of love-interest which stamps it as another Meighan bell-ringer.

In "The Mating Call," which was produced by The Caddo company and is based on the popular novel by Rex Beach, Meighan is presented in a virile romantic impersonation. He is supported by two leading women, Evelyn Brent and Renee Adoree.

Miss Brent is lovely as the blase and fashionable society girl. She wears a dazzling array of gowns and negligees which must delight the feminine patrons. Miss Adoree is a comely Russian immigrant girl and she gives one of the best performances in her screen experience.

There are many "big moments" in this latest Meighan production. The climatic sequence is a daring reproduction of the night-raiding activities of a band of terrorists.

"RED HOT SPEED" IS DENNY'S BEST

Without a doubt "Red Hot Speed," starring Reginald Denny, at the American theatre, is the funniest thing Carl Laemmle's favorite comedian has turned out for many months.

The idea of the picture is ingenious and entirely new for the screen. It's such an obviously clever idea that it's a wonder it hasn't been done before. The story concerns the misadventures of a young assistant district attorney attached to the speeders' court. He gets into trouble as a result of his public denunciation of a beautiful young speeder. The judge, possessed of a rare judicial sense of humor, parades the young lady in his custody. There are lots of reasons why she doesn't want her father, a newspaper editor, to know that she was arrested, so she gives a false name.

Well, anyway, that gives you the idea around which Director Joseph Henabery has constructed a delightful romantic farce comedy. Reginald Denny is perfect in the part and Alice Day, as the youthful speeder adds greatly to the attractiveness and humor of the photoplay.

Denny is the typical fare comedian.

MISS RICH WINS IN STATE BILL

As the law-abiding daughter of Puritan forbears, forced by circumstances to become an associate of rum runners "Ned McCobb's Daughter," now at the State theater, provides Irene Rich with a role rich in drama.

This Pathe picture filmed with music and other sound effects offers notable characterizations for such screen favorites as Robert Armstrong, Theodore Roberts, George Barraud, Carol Lombard and Louis Natheaux.

"Ned McCobb's Daughter," was directed by William J. Cowen and adapted for the screen by Beulah Marie Dix.

Good Work, Service Department

In this day and age, when public officials' ears burn as a result of criticism, a word of praise is welcomed, and with the passing of the sub-zero and near-zero weather attention is directed to the work of the municipal service department in coping with slippery streets this week.

With pottery manufacturers co-operating to the extent of contributing the material, Service Director John W. Moore and Street Commissioner Martha McLaughlin and their co-workers lost no time in scattering grog and ashes on dangerous intersections and grades. This was done on St. Clair and Chester avenues, Lisbon, Minerva and Avondale streets, all hilly thoroughfares.

Without this service on the part of the municipal servants, it would have been impossible for automotive and other vehicular traffic to use the streets, which were ice-coated. And much of this work was done at night or in the early morning hours—the off period for the workers.

If another "ice age" grips East Liverpool, home occupants should emulate the example of the service department by cleaning sidewalks. Thus pedestrians as well as motorists will face less danger of accidents.

Edwin Denby's Epitaph

Now that all that was mortal of former Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby has been committed to the tomb, it will be interesting to recall in mind the many bitter attacks made upon him back in 1924, coincident with the passage of a resolution by the senate, that it was the sense of that body that the president should "immediately request" his resignation, and compare them with tributes paid to that brave and gallant gentleman since his death.

The attacks, it goes without the saying, were largely political in their inspiration, some of those making them no doubt laughing in their sleeves while so doing.

It is to the credit of President Coolidge that he refused to act as requested by the senate on the ground that that body had no authority to ask for such action. But the secretary, voluntarily tendered his resignation and gave up the navy portfolio, sacrificing himself for the party good.

It is a significant fact that, within four months of the tender of the secretary's resignation, the Democratic chairman of the senate committee largely responsible for the inception of the manifest campaign to force him out of the cabinet in his final report declared Secretary Denby exonerated from "any part whatever" in the oil lease negotiations, on his alleged connection with which the attacks were based.

And today, the press, regardless of political applications, and neighbors and friends pay tribute to this splendid citizen.

Perhaps of all the tributes offered, the closing paragraph of an editorial in one of his home papers in Detroit most fittingly covers the situation. It says:

"For perhaps the greatest of all his achievements was the building up of a character and reputation, which, when crisis came, placed him above any suspicion of dishonesty or compromise with honor, and forced even those who were bitterest in their attacks upon him to acknowledge that he was clean. No man can accomplish anything more permanently worthwhile than that, or leave a better legacy to those who come after him."

Let this be the epitaph of Edwin Denby.

Kurds' Revolution

The Kurds are revolting again. In Turkish perhaps they would change the word "again" to "yet." Nearly 3,000 years ago, outlying Assyrian settlements were harassed by marauding bands of Kurds and in the fifth century B. C. the tribesmen attempted to annihilate Xenophon and his 10,000 retreating Greeks by rolling stones from high cliffs along the line of march, says a bulletin from headquarters of the National Geographic society. In the meantime, the Armenians who entered Kurd territory were either massacred or driven from the country.

In spite of exciting events in the fighting history of the Kurds, the tribesmen were almost unknown outside the Near East before the World war. When a delegation of Kurds appeared at the peace conferences in 1919 newspaper men did not know who the sunburned tribesmen might be. When their identity was revealed the Kurds went on the front pages and frequently have been there since.

Four years ago the tribesmen revolted in an attempt to set up their own government, but Mustafa Kemal's forces subdued them. The scrapping of the Caliphate at Constantinople aroused them and nearly every change in old Moslem customs has irritated them. Revolt after revolt has been quelled but as soon as the Kurd replenishes his forces and supplies, he is ready to attack again.

Most of the 2,000,000 Kurds in the Near East inhabit the eastern areas of Turkey, but tribes also are scattered over the northern part of Iraq and western Persia. The peasant's house is a one-room structure which might be mistaken for a stable. He reserves one side for his animals while his family occupies the other.

Under Moslem law, the Kurd may take four wives. Wives are bought, so the peasant usually has only one. The chiefs take the full quota. Wives are priced according to their rank. The tribesmen can get a wife in exchange for a pony or goat, or one may cost the equivalent of $2,500.

What's In a Name?

A young man in Cincinnati may lose $20,000 because he doesn't want to comply with a provision in his aunt's will which looks very simple and easy to a good many other folks.

Carroll Dexter Walker is the young man's name. His aunt makes the posthumous demand that he change it to Charles Dexter, his grandfather's name, on his 21st birthday, with the money as a reward.

The lad admits that his grandfather was a good man, with a good name. But somehow or other, he prefers his own name.

"Would you give up your name for $20,000?" he asks. But that is different.

That centenarian who lives on pork had better look out, for one of these centuries he'll find his arteries hardening and his blood pressure rising.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 15.—The story of American progress is often repeated in these days when there is much widespread prosperity and more people have more things than at any previous time in the history of the world. But there is a special occasion for expatiating again upon this all-important matter for this year marks the golden jubilee of the existence of the yardstick by which we measure our well-being. Just fifty years ago the first issue of the statistical abstract of the United States was compiled. It has been published annually ever since.

The statistical abstract reveals that during this half century period the United States completely changed its character. In 1878, it was one of the principal, if not the principal, agricultural country in the world. Today, although it has only about one-sixtieth of the world's population, it produces nearly a third of the world's manufactures.

A study of the figures shows how agriculture and our natural resources have combined to make this tremendous preponderance in manufacturing possible. At the beginning of the period, well over half of the population lived on farms and was engaged in agriculture. Now, although the population has increased nearly two and a half times, more than half live in cities.

Now observe the unpredictable character of the shift from agriculture to manufacturing. The first abstract showed the value of the products of agriculture to be $2,519,000,000 while the value of manufactures was $5,379,000,000. Fifty years later the value of all crops was $3,268,000,000 and the value of manufactures $62,714,000,000. So in the fifty-year period the value of the crops was multiplied 3.68 times while the value of manufactures was multiplied 11.68 times. These significant figures show that while there was a profound change in the relative importance in value of these two groups of products there was not a substitution. Agriculture was not sacrificed that this might become an industrial nation. Indeed, the value of its products was greatly increased.

Without the great agricultural industry as a firm basis, the manufacturing structure could not have been built. In 1878 the value of the corn crop was $418,000,000 while today it is more than $2,000,000,000. Wheat production has risen in the period from $391,000,000 to $875,000,000. Cotton has increased in value from $244,000,000 to $1,300,000,000. The liberal policy of the government in giving away the western lands to any one willing to comply with the Homestead act requirements coupled with the invention of improved agricultural machinery accounts for this increase. Science enters, of course, for products which were wasted, both vegetable and animal, fifty years ago now are utilized in a thousand different, profitable ways.

The most spectacular gain has been in connection with natural resources. Mineral oil production, for example, has increased nearly 20 times in the half century, a steady advance of about 30 per cent in each successive year being noted. From a value of $367,000,000 mineral oil has risen to $5,500,000,000.

Outstanding examples of new additions to the total wealth and especially to the convenience and happiness of the population are shown. In 1878 there were no telephones, no automobiles (save in experimental stages), no electric washing machines, no vacuum cleaners and, of course, no radios. Today there are more than 18,000,000 telephones, 23,000,000 automobiles, 5,500,000 electric washing machines, and 8,200,000 vacuum cleaners.

To make these new and also the other manufactured articles, power was required. One of the most striking figures in the compilations shows that in 1878 not a kilowatt hour of electrical energy was generated by a public utility. Today the production is given as 80,205,000,000 kilowatt hours.

In dollars the wealth of the nation actually in the hands of the people—that is, as represented by individual deposits in banks—has multiplied twenty-four times. National wealth per capita has multiplied seven and one-third times. The use of this wealth in educating the youth of the land has far more than kept pace with the increase in the population. Thus, public school enrollment has multiplied two and a half times while colleges and university enrollment has multiplied more than six and a quarter times.

Ritzzy Rosalie

Rosalie is quite proud of her brocade bag with its zipper closing, for the simple reason that she made it herself. If she didn't know that she would have to pay several times the cost of this ribbon bag she might not have enjoyed going to the department store and having the clerk measure off "two motifs" of ribbon from a special bolt of "bag brocade." From the same department store came her new boutonniere glove set. The ombre leather shoulder flower is matched by the one on the cuff of her glove. Jin's only claim to fashion-rightness today lies in his gay blanket with his name on one side.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Most of us do some "heavy hollering" about the annoyance of tipping in France. As a matter of fact it is nice clean fun if you are stocked up with small change. Compared to American tipping, it is mid-gest stuff. A franc (four cents) tip is equivalent to a quarter tip at home, and received with better grace.

All hotels exact a 10 per cent of the bill tribute, but it doesn't mean anything. You must tip extra when you depart. Servants line up outside the door with palms outstretched, and it takes a braver man than Gungah Din to run the gauntlet.

In cafes, if the pourbois is not considered ample by the waiter he leaves it at your plate as a silent gesture of contempt, and retreats to a far away corner for good cry. He expects his 10 per cent, as does the wine man. Hotel clerks and often the manager, too, have a sad eyed look, if you neglect them.

Package boys, in reality gray haired old men, are paid no salaries and consequently if you are out when they make deliveries they return for the tip. A franc is all they expect from an American. From a native 50 centimes or even a sou suffices.

In ordering a round of drinks at a bar, it is customary to leave a franc for the bartender. Few receive salaries. Fillets in the dressmaking parlors expect their five or ten franc gift. And never forget the concierge. If you do, you will probably not get back in the hotel again.

The concierge wears the uniform of servitude, but he is a big shot. In many instances he is a heavy share holder. It is tres difficile to digest the French idea about tipping. Here it hasn't the slightly degrading stigma attached to it in America. They regard it as much their due as the pay envelope at home.

In a barber shop or hair dressing parlor, the attendant who serves walks with you to the cashier's cage. He makes out the check and waits at your side until you hand him his tip. He is not at all abashed by what seems to many bland impertinence. It is the way he was brought up.

One of the most amusing things I have seen in Paris so far is a man's bicycle with a seat of delicate pink plush. Mike Arlen called it the "Flossy Fanny."

The most famous cocktail place in the world is a few steps from the rue Cambon entrance of the Ritz. The charm is in its intimacy. It occupies the space of an ordinary hotel room and 10 minutes after it opens at noon and in the late afternoon it is so densely packed no one can get in or out. A gentleman may not enter alone. He must escort a lady. It is patronized chiefly by loose living American divorcees set with a sprinkling of Greek and Argentine gigolos. More cocktails are dined here in a day than in all the other American bars combined, and among those glorifying illustrious namesakes are The Mistinguett, The Lindbergh and The Ambassador Herriek. The manager of the cocktail room is Frank Maier, whose autograph book contains the most celebrated roster I ever saw, and who is a millionaire.

The "smart" Parisienne woman is largely a myth and exists almost solely among the demi-monde. Few representative French women bear any resemblance whatever to the peached Irene Bordoni types in La Vie Parisienne. Fine ladies in France dress in black because it is inconspicuous, economical and can be "matched." It is convenient for the long and deep periods of mourning. The gentleman is more interested in money in the bank than the latest creations of Chanel or Cheriut.

The typical French housewife rarely wears a hat, save for state affairs. On every street she is seen bare-headed, lunched up and shivering in a woolen shoulder-throw. And one rarely sees a thin middle aged woman here.

My wife went prowling among the antique shops on Avenue Victor Hugo today. In one she ran across Ralph Barton, the artist. "Why are you looking for antiques," he archly inquired. "I thought your husband came over with you?" And she can scarcely wait until she gets home to blab that one.

Other Editors Say

The Magic of Lindbergh.

There is something that suggests the occult—the word "occult" being a synonym for anything that we can not understand—about the way in which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh holds the post of national hero with anything whatever that he does. He is at this moment flying over Central America. He has flown over it before. But does the public regard the feat merely as a more or less tedious second ringing of the first bell? It is not. The people get the same thrill over the performance that they got when he did it for the first time. It is enough that it is Lindbergh who does it.

Perhaps the psychology of this inexhaustible interest is not difficult to trace. Everybody is convinced that Lindbergh's skill and peculiar sagacity are such that he can fly when and where he pleases without misadventure or detention—over Central American volcanoes and interminable impenetrable jungles; over oceans and over bandits' dens; that he knows his exact way through fogs and storms; that not only will he land where he says he will land at the moment when he says he will get there, but that he has a weird sort of pervasion for surmounting even an unforeseen contingency. And this faculty, in a fallible world, can never grow commonplace. All this is indicated in his history and career. Yet the wonder of it persists in spite of all repetition of his feats. The fact does not have to be "news;" Lindbergh himself is the news.

We have noted the case of the people who think that an angel flies just in advance of this young man's propeller—guides and make him secure by supernatural power. The ordinary person does not indeed require the explanation of the angel. The miracle lies in Lindbergh's combination of skill and brains. Our hero is human. He is the supreme flyer—and he is American. That is enough to insure him a position on the first page. We do not need the "occult" to keep him there.—Boston Transcript.

When You Take Inventory.
Convalescence from an illness is a good time to take a self inventory. At such a time you are less likely to have flighty day dreams.

You are in sober mood when things present themselves as they are.

For one thing you will realize that you are fortunate if you have good health—to be well, is most important.

You will be convinced that no matter what else you lack, you should not complain if you have good health.

Another thought which should come to you is, how quickly you might become incapable of earning a living.

The latter thought should prompt you to make better use of the days, weeks and months, while you are well and strong and able to work.

As you look back you see weeks and weeks of wasted effort and time.

You might have done something more to improve your income.

You might have gained essential knowledge which would mean increased facilities of brain and resultant gains in income.

You need a saving to be prepared for the future.

If a recent illness gave birth to practical thoughts of the future it was a valuable lesson even if it did cost you something in the way of a doctor's bill.

Many Here to End Colds

Neglecting a head or chest cold is sure to cause needless misery and may risk pneumonia. So doctors are now recommending a method that is giving vast numbers of East Liverpool people almost instant relief—then quickly drives the cold out of one's system.

Miss Helen Parker, for example, neglected her cold until her eyes became inflamed, her nose stopped up and congestion started spreading. Then she called her doctor, who advised Ayer's Pectoral—a hospital-certified compound of wild cherry, terpene hydrate, etc.

With the first pleasant swallow she felt its comforting, healing warmth. Relief began instantly and in an hour or so the medication was absorbed by her system, loosening up congestion in her nose passages and chest. When she awoke next morning there was practically no sign of the cold—and in another day or so congestion had disappeared entirely.

Note: Other cases reported daily—all certified by attending physician.

Absorbed by the system Ayer's Pectoral helps get rid of congestion, reduce the "feverish," "achy" feeling and drive the cold out of your system.

Just a few pleasant spoonfuls now and you, too, will feel like a different person tomorrow. At all druggists.

ALWAYS A FASHION SHOW

NEW IS THE WATCHWORD OF
OUR APPAREL STOCKS

Yes, it's nice—but is it new? That is the eternal cry of our stylists. And they insist that every frock—every suit—every coat must be new in line, in color, in fabric. Thus it is that fashion-wise women choose their apparel at this store—for they know that Fashion's last word is glorified here. In garments, in costumes for whatever occasion.

$10 up

Another thing—don't forget color in your wardrobe, it's important, more important than anything else, I think. I didn't mention evening wear at all—watch out for that delicious new tone of chartreuse, pale greenish-yellow—it's vastly becoming. And—oh, I could go on forever—but not now. Au revoir, till next time.

Does his mother
realize?

Considerate mothers will act at once.

Constipation will blunt the keenest intellect, and many a child is classed as "dull" through bowels failing to act regularly. They need mother's watchful care.

If your child is listless, dull and out-of-sorts, it means that the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with constipated waste. Just give a dose of "California Fig Syrup," and soon all the sour bile and irritating poison are moved from the bowels, and the child is bright and energetic again. "California Fig Syrup" cleans and regulates the bowels, and insures pure blood, clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and promotes sturdy growth.

To be sure that the Fig Syrup you buy is the genuine, look for the name "California" on the package. Adv.

Beware of Colds NOW!

whether you've had the FLU . . . or not

This is the time of year when serious cold troubles, such as deep chest colds, bronchitis, and pneumonia are always at their worst.

Just now, with so many people in the weakened condition that follows a flu attack, it is more important than ever to heed every cold as a danger signal and check it promptly before complications can set in.

Quick Direct Treatment

At the first sign of a cold, melt some Vicks in a bowl of hot water and inhale its healing vapors. Also place some up each nostril and snuff well back. This quickly opens the air passages.

At bedtime, rub Vicks vigorously over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel. Most colds yield over night to Vicks two-fold action:

Acts 2 Ways at Once

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.

(2) At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" tightness and soreness, and thus helping the vapors to break up the congestion.

Mothers especially appreciate this simple external treatment because it cannot upset children's delicate stomachs, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

This New Way of Fadeless, Quicker Washing

A New Discovery That Ends Ruining Fine Things Even Under Most Frequent Washings—And Cuts Washing Time of Clothes and Dishes ONE-HALF or More

NEW light has been thrown on saving fine fabrics from ruin and fade, and fine china from dishpan wear, that often saves the average family hundreds of dollars yearly, and the housewife countless heartaches.

A fadeless way of heavy washing has been found. A way that makes any water (regardless how "hard" it may be) and ordinary household soap into a perfect No-FADE cleanser.

Fine lingerie is washed 50 times or more—without noticeable fade. Expensive hosiery saved from fade and wear almost unbelievably. And results proved before this new way goes to you.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a tablespoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as Rain-Water. So soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the soap you use now. And thus ends danger of "soap eat" to fragile things.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time, too—

10¢
packages
(12 oz.)

CLIMALENE

in machine or on board—ONE-HALF or more. Use any kind of soap or soap flakes—the same soap you ordinarily do. Some 2 million women now are using it—for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things: lingerie and delicate fabrics. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

We wash delicate lingerie, often 50 times—without perceptible fade. Children's rompers, 60 to 90 times. That's over a year's home washing. We wash gold-encrusted china hundreds of times—without a trace of gold gone. And thus prove the blandness of this way.

Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put Climalene into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft and smoothly white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages. THE CLIMALENE CO., CANTON, OHIO

FOUR-CENT GAS TAX PROPOSED BY OHIO BILL

Another Measure Would Put Levy on Cigarettes.

MALT SALE HIT

Licensing Plan Believed Directed at "Chain Stores."

By C. H. Maddox.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—House bills providing for a four-cent gasoline tax, for a cigarette tax, for the licensing and taxing of stores, and the prohibition of sale or possession of malt or malt syrup for "home brew" purposes await further action when the Ohio legislature reconvenes here next Monday night.

The senate and house last yesterday recessed until 7 p. m. Monday.

Representative Dallas Sullivan, Union county, offered a bill raising the state gasoline tax from three to four cents a gallon. The additional cent would yield about $8,300,000 a year for highway improvement purposes, it was estimated. Of this increase, the bill would apportion $1,500,000 annually for township roads.

One-Cent Tax on Fags.

Representative Geo. M. Forney, Hancock county, introduced a bill providing for a graduated tax on cigarette sales, ranging from a one-cent tax on every package selling for 10 cents or less, to a 10-cent tax on each package selling at more than 50 cents.

A bill, offered by Representative G. E. Sharp, Vinton county, provides for a graduated license tax ranging from $5 to $750 a year on each store operated in Ohio. The measure, apparently, is directed at "chain stores." The licenses would be issued by the state auditor. The license fees, it was estimated, would amount to at least $10,000,000 a year. Of this revenue, $440,000 would be divided equally each year among the 88 counties of the state for mother's pensions. The rest would go into the state's general revenue fund.

Anti-Malt Proposal.

Representative F. W. Piper, Belmont county, introduced the anti-malt bill. It provides that first offenders shall be fined from $10 to $50 and that for each subsequent offense the fine shall be not less than $50 nor more than $200.

A bill by Representative C. M. Emory, Pike county, would place in the wholesale class all stores selling cigarettes in quantities of more than one carton. Such stores would have to pay the $200 wholesale tax each year. The retail license is $50.

As a result of the increasing number of kidnappings in this state, Representative J. J. Hayden, Clermont county, introduced a bill decreeing that any person convicted of child-stealing and kidnapping shall be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Other Proposals.

Other new bills include:
By Speaker O. C. Gray, providing for acquisition of the site of the home in which Gen. George Armstrong Custer was born and to erect a monument in his memory in Harrison county; by Representative G. C. Kunner, Hardin county, providing for dissolution of a conservancy district by petition of a majority of freeholders holding a majority of the land; by Representative P. P. Elsass, Shelby county, reducing the lease rental on the canal in Sidney from $2,300 to $500; Mrs. Myra Hanna, Bowling Green, providing annual exhibits of junior club work in counties where there is no county fair; by Representative G. W. Grant, Bucyrus, providing that appeals in divorce cases shall be on error only; by Representative Piper, providing for a municipal court at Bellaire.

School Savings Measure.

Representative Russell H. Kear,

DRIVER OF AUTO KILLED BY TRAIN

FREMONT, O., Feb. 15.—Dr. D. C. Bell, 53, a veterinary surgeon of Detroit, Mich., was killed last night by a Lake Shore Electric Interurban car when he either drove his automobile onto the tracks, which parallel the highway, or skidded into the on-rushing electric car.

Wyandot county, introduced a bill requiring that deposits of school children in school savings accounts shall be equally divided among the banks of the community when the banks ask for such deposits.

Representative B. F. Lear, Trumbull county, offered bills providing for compulsory state liability automobile insurance and establishing a state fund, and requiring contractors' bonds for road construction to cover maintenance of such roads for a period of five years.

Other bills introduced by Representative Sullivan follow: Changing the ratio of distribution of the original two-cent portion of the state gasoline tax as follows: To counties, reduced from 30 per cent to 20 per cent; to cities, lowered from 25 to 20 per cent; state's share remaining unchanged at 45 per cent, and dividing 15 per cent equally among townships on county road system.

Permitting county commissioners of Union, Lorain and Delaware counties to assume assessments on inter-county highways.

Providing that small municipalities through which irregular bus lines run may not assess these lines for operating privileges.

Permitting small motor truck operators to operate without obtaining a license from the state utilities commission.

The house adopted the Bellinger resolution memorializing congress to reapportion seats in the national house of representatives according to the 1920 federal census.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Thursday's prolonged "no announcement" meeting of the New York Reserve bank directors, which adjourned last night without making any change in the discount rate of the bank, did not help to solve the riddle of the money market, and traces of nervousness and unsettlement were seen in all sections of the stock market at the beginning of trading today.

Though most of the industrial favorites opened higher, with extreme gains of 3 points in the high-priced favorites, the wave of selling which passed over the market in the first hour wiped out the bulk of these early gains. The market wobbled around in the first hour, with the copper and the utilities making the best showing, while the steel, copper and motor stocks dropped back to the level of Thursday's close.

The reserve board's weekly report disclosed a shrinkage of only $101,000,000 in brokers' loans. It also showed that the reserve banks were carrying out their policy of squeezing stock market borrowing facilities by reducing their government bond and acceptance holdings $42,603,000.

SEEK MOTIVE IN MASSACRE OF SEVEN MEN

Three Probes of Chicago Gangland Murders.

DOCTOR VICTIM

Trail George "Bugs" Moran, North Side Leader.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A direct charge that Chicago policemen had killed the seven gangsters lined against a wall and massacred with machine guns was made here today by F. D. Sillo-way, deputy prohibition administrator.

Sillo-way made the charge after he had exposed reports made by his private prohibition agents, making an independent investigation of the horrible slaying, the worst in the history of gangland, in which the entire "mob" of George "Bugs" Moran, North Side liquor king, was wiped out.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—City, county and federal agencies plunked into the maze of theories, plots and counter plots here today in an effort to solve the horrible massacre of six members of gangland and a physician who met death yesterday standing in single file against a brick wall when deadly machine gun slugs tore into their bodies.

The shooting was considered more fiendish because the slayers used the uniforms of policemen to enter the garage and disarm the victims who believed they were merely being subjected to a police examination and thus gave up their weapons without a struggle.

The key to the solution, it is generally believed, lies in the finding of George "Bugs" Moran, leader of the north side "mob" who was annihilated by the super stroke of gangland. Moran was variously reported in hiding, fleeing from the city and critically ill of influenza.

Forty men have been rounded up and are held at the detective bureau for questioning.

Wants New Trial

be adjusted on his face, and where the 2,300 volts of electricity will send his soul into eternity.

Plot Originated in Prison.

It was learned from prison officials, that the plot which culminated in the death of the aged farmer, Henry Foss, originated within the grayish old walls of this institution.

In 1925, Koon was serving a minor sentence on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. A distant relative of the murdered man was also "doing a stretch." A carelessly-dropped hint that Foss foolishly kept large sums of money around the house, is believed to have formulated the plan of robbery in Koon's mind.

Five weeks after Koon was released on this charge, which was in May, 1927, he hid in the basement of the Foss house near Marion.

Foss and wife entered the dwelling. A fight ensued. Foss' skull was crushed. He died the next day. On the same day, Koon was captured and $675 was found on his person.

A trial followed. Koon was found guilty and sentenced to die on Nov. 5, a stay was granted pending an appeal. The appeal was overruled, and he was again sentenced to be electrocuted on Feb. 15, today.

Koon charges that his lawyer deserted him, inasmuch as the case was not carried to the supreme court. All of the money appropriated for Koon's defense by Marion county, has not been used, the doomed man claims, and he will die tonight, unless the governor intervenes.

Good Wife or Mother Plays Tremendous Part in Helping Man Attain Goal, Ford Says

Automobile Manufacturer Says Edison is Happy Man.

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the second of a series of three articles based on an exclusive interview with Henry Ford.)

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN.
(Copyright, 1929, I. N. S.)

FORD MYERS, Fla., Feb. 15.—Declaring that "work" is his formula for success, Henry Ford, the richest man in the world, today amplified that assertion by adding that a good wife or a mother who exerts the right influence also plays a tremendous part in helping an ambitious man attain his goal.

"I cannot estimate the amount of credit my wife should be given for whatever success I have achieved," said Mr. Ford with some feeling. "It has been incalculable."

"Fully fifty percent of the credit," interjected Harvey Firestone, millionaire rubber man, who was listening to the interview which took place on Mr. Ford's beautiful tropical estate where he has been in semi-seclusion.

"Yes, all of that," said Mr. Ford.

Edison is Happy Man.

I reminded Mr. Ford that his old friend, Thomas A. Edison, world's famous inventor, had stated on his eighty-second birthday last Monday that he did not know a single person who was happy.

"Do you know one happy person?" I asked him.

"Yes," he replied. "I think Mr. Edison is the happiest man I know. He has reason to be happy. He always has been busy. Early in life through hard work and the use of his great brain he accumulated enough money to do things. His creative genius has resulted in untold good for humanity. Think of the satisfaction that must give to him."

"Edison's work has always been constructive and genuinely worth while. That is the thing that makes for happiness."

"He radiates happiness. Any one is happy in his presence. It is contagious."

Interview His Biggest Thrill.

Ford remarked that "people ought to be more cheerful." They take themselves too seriously, he thought, adding:

"Generally when people are serious they are in some sort of trouble. And it is usually their own fault if they are in trouble."

"What is your formula for success?"

"Work," said Mr. Ford, sincerely. "It's the only thing I know of that will do it. A successful man must use his mind, his hands and his feet."

"Looking back on your own successful life, what achievement, or what moment, gave you the biggest thrills?"

Mr. Ford smiled and then replied, cryptically:

"The last moment. That's the best moment for everybody. You feel better today than you did yesterday. You have learned something. You have gained experience. Now I enjoy the manner in which you are interviewing me."

The writer thanked Mr. Ford and returned the compliment.

O. K.'s College Education.

"What is your position on the question of a college education?" he was asked.

"It's all right. Some want it, others don't. No two people want the same thing. People arrive at the same goal by different routes. If a boy has a desire for a college education he probably will get something out of it. But, after all, it's the stuff the boy is made of that counts."

"What is your impression of the young people of today? Are they going in too much for luxuries and amusements?"

"Tools are made by hand nowadays."

Dr. Edmund D. Soper Becomes Seventh President.

DELAWARE, O., Feb. 15.—Amid a colorful display of academic pomp, Dr. Edmund D. Soper was inaugurated as the seventh president of Ohio Wesleyan university here today.

A parade of representatives of more than 130 colleges and universities across the historic campus preceded the inaugural ceremonies in Gray chapel.

Dr. Soper was inducted into the presidency of the university by Walter A. Jones, Columbus, president of the board of trustees.

A brief but solemn tribute was paid to the late Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, of Cincinnati, shortly before Dr. Soper delivered his inaugural address.

The new president spoke on the topic of "Academic Freedom in a Christian College."

scientific object, beyond pleasing power, and the mob.

Even witnesses accused of no crime were tortured to make them tell what they knew. When the French Revolution stopped torture of witnesses, respectable judges said justice would be impossible without torture.

DREADFUL cold continues in Europe, temperature 76 degrees below zero in Poland. Thirty-four gypsies in camp near Warsaw were found frozen to death. Many children have died of cold in their beds. In Yugoslavia foxes, deer and hares, numbed with cold, were easily caught by hand.

This country should be grateful for its mercies. But even here in the northwest, as Stefansson tells you, the temperature drops lower than it ever does at the North Pole.

AFTER three more weeks in the White House, President Coolidge will take the train, on the afternoon of March 4th, and move to a small house in Northampton, Mass.

The President could have had four more years in the White House. He had been elected only once, and was entitled to a second election.

He chose to strain a point in the direction of the third term tradition and retires at the height of extraordinary success in public service.

In his own time he will find other important work to do. He might possibly go to the Senate and teach senators to say a good deal in a few words.

ON THE formal announcement of the agreement between the pope and the Italian government, 80,000 received the pope's blessing inside St. Peter's and 200,000 gathered in the rain, received the papal benediction from the balcony of St. Peter's.

Later the king of Italy was enthusiastically applauded as he stood with the queen on the balcony of the Quirinal.

Throughout the day Mussolini did not appear in public, ignoring crowds that gathered before his palace.

He probably was thinking hard about his latest important decision.

FROM the White House, it was announced on Tuesday that the president "has not made a study of the agreement (between the pope and the Italian government), but unless the rights of American property owners are affected by the creation of a Papal state it would hardly be necessary to name a diplomatic representative to the Vatican."

That tentative decision may be reversed.

HOOPER and Curtis were not officially elected until the senator ate and house counted the electoral votes. Our forefathers, convinced that the people didn't know enough to elect a president, arranged to choose electors, "superior men," in each state, the electors to select a president.

ROBBED GROCERY

Five Well-directed Shots Disables Gunmen.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Two bandits were shot by a policeman here today after they had held up a grocery store and kidnaped a chauffeur to make their "getaway."

In the exchange of shots between the policeman, standing in the street, and the bandits the chauffeur was wounded.

The men shot by policeman William Kattelut were Harry Meyer and Robert Manning, both of Detroit. The chauffeur was Walter Harris.

Kattelut commandeered a passing automobile and the revolver battle, in which the bandits returned the fire, took place as both machines were speeding at fifty miles an hour.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson

LISBON, O., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, 77, wife of J. C. Richardson, died here today in her home in East Chestnut street.

Mrs. Richardson, who was born near Rogers, had lived here for the last ten years.

Besides her husband, she leaves one son, Frank, a daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Cope Rogers, and one brother, J. F. Rudabaugh of New Waterford.

REV. S. E. WEST OPENS 5-HOUR PRAYER MEET

Sermon Will Follow
Free Methodist Services.

REVIVAL PLAN

Avondale Church Pastor Again Preaches
on "Healing."

"If God healed only a few that were ill during the days of Jesus Christ upon the earth then He would qualify as a respecter of persons," declared the Rev. S. E. West, pastor, at the Free Methodist church revival, Avondale street, last night. His subject was the question, "It is the Will of God To Heal All the Sick?"

Another good sized audience heard the discourse of the minister and completed plans for a constant prayer service this afternoon from 2 to 7:30 o'clock when the evening meeting is scheduled to begin.

At the conclusion of this more than five-hour period of supplication, the Rev. Mr. West will preach, his theme being "Prayer."

Quotes Epistle of James.
"Is any sick among you? Let him
call for the elders of the church and let them pray for him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord. And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he has committed sins they shall be forgiven him."

The above words from the epistle of James formed the text of the Rev. Mr.
West's sermon in which he reiterated
the scriptural affirmation that God was no respecter of persons. Thus he contended that since He once healed
those physically afflicted He will always do so.

"There is no Bible reference that indicates the refusal of God to heal anyone ill; neither is there record that from any He turned away," he argued.

"Jesus Christ in His ministry and life while on earth carried out the will of the Father perfectly," he said.
"And at the end of His ministry He specifically commanded His disciples to preach the gospel and heal the sick. These injunctions have in no

COW KICKS AS GIRLS GIGGLE

BARNESVILLE, O., Feb. 15.—
Taking offense to the giggling members of a Barnesville high school class "Bossy," heretofore
a gentle cow, eased out a rear
hoof and knocked the milk pail
over and broke the leg of Mrs.
Zenia Fowler, the teacher.

The agricultural class subject was milking. Mrs. Fowler led
"Bossy" to the rear of the school.
She placed the pail in position and proposed to milk.

As she milked the class laughed. Several times "Bossy" turned her head in amazement. Then she flapped her tail, moo'ed and kicked. The pail went over, as did the teacher nad the stool she was sitting on. "Bossy" moved into a corner and moo'ed some wise been repealed or amended and are yet in full force.

"No cases were too hard for Christ
to heal and none were held unworthy.
All, showing faith, were given again
the boon of health and vigor who came to Him.

He showed also that God's people
enjoyed this blessing when he quoted
the Lord's affirmation to Hezekiah
when the latter, praying, was given an extension of life: "I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears; behold
I will heal thee."

Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated
tongues, mad breath, sour burning
stomach, rumbling in stomach, gas
and stomach acidity, and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble
is due wholly to Catarrh of the stomach. Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because it alters the character
of the mucous membrane lining the
stomach, thickening it and coating it
with phlegm, so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon
breeds deadly disease in the fermenting, unassimilated food. The products of this fermentation pollute the blood and carries the infection thruout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form. Frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

Catarrh must, therefore, be combated within the system in order to eliminate it. Local treatment in the nose and throat may often bring quick relief from distress, but it is only temporary.

World's Tonic is so highly praised
by Catarrh sufferers because it is
a systematic treatment for Catarrh,
and not only brings quick relief from
the disease, but combats catarrh withing the system and is designed to rid
the body entirely of the disease.

World's Tonic relieves the dripping into the throat and discharge from the nose. It also quickly stops dryness, huskiness, soreness of nasal passages, pains in head, headache and the like. At the same time, World's Tonic clears up the congestion within the system, conquers the Catarrh and brings astonishing results in many cases.

Will of God To Heal.

"It must follow therefore that it is the will of God to heal all that are sick everywhere.

"This viewpoint must come from the belief that Christ when on earth
by His life gave the most perfect realization of the life of God Himself that man ever has had or will have.

"And the saying of Jesus, the words of the text, corroborated and make stronger the viewpoint that it is the will of God to heal all who are afflicted in body. But it is necessary that the elders of the churches be called that they might pray; it is also incumbent upon the person sick to pray.

"And when the prayer reaches the dignity of being one of faith then the sick shall be saved" and "the Lord will lift him up."

"The Lord has promised to heal His people. 'For I am the Lord that heal thee,' he quoted from Exodus 15:
25; and 'the Lord will take away all sickness from thee,' Deut. 7:15."

He showed also that God's people
enjoyed this blessing when he quoted
the Lord's affirmation to Hezekiah
when the latter, praying, was given an extension of life: "I have heard thy
prayer, I have seen thy tears; behold
I will heal thee."

Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated
tongues, mad breath, sour burning
stomach, rumbling in stomach, gas
and stomach acidity, and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble
is due wholly to Catarrh of the stomach. Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because it alters the character
of the mucous membrane lining the
stomach, thickening it and coating it
with phlegm, so that the digestive
fluids cannot mix with the food and
digest them. This condition soon
breeds deadly disease in the fer-
menting, unassimilated food. The products of this fermentation pollute the
blood and carries the infection thru-
out the body. Gastric ulcers are apt
to form. Frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

Catarrh must, therefore, be com-
bated within the system in order to eliminate it. Local treatment in the

nose and throat may often bring
quick relief from distress, but it is
only temporary.

World's Tonic is so highly praised
by Catarrh sufferers because it is
a systematic treatment for Catarrh,
and not only brings quick relief from
the disease, but combats catarrh with-
ing the system and is designed to rid
the body entirely of the disease.

If the function of the kidneys is not properly performed, toxins are retained in the system and do much harm. Also the complexion becomes muddy.

If your kidneys are deranged, Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets should be taken. They are a mild stimulant diuretic to the kidneys and will help to flush out body poisons. All dealers. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire free advice. One user of Anuric writes: "I was suffering from weak kidneys—would be disturbed a great deal at night, my back bothered me terribly and my feet and ankles would swell. But since taking 'Anuric' my kidneys do not bother me."

86 CONVERTED IN REVIVAL

Evangelist Oney Speaks In Church of Nazarene.

NEWELL, W. Va., Feb. 15.—Eighty-six conversions have been recorded in the revival in the Church of the Nazarene, in charge of the Rev. Edward C. Oney of Rush, Ky. It was announced today by the Rev. P. F. Freese, pastor.
Evangelist Oney spoke last night from the text found in Matthew 16:26: "What is a man profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul." He spoke in part:
"Many people, according to their manner of life, value their souls as the cheapest of their possessions. They pay more heed to the cries and desires of their bodies than they do to the needs of the soul. Money, time, reputation and most anything is sacrificed for the body but the soul is denied and its cries are stifled, and it is left to shrivel and die."
"The case of Judas proves the statement to be true. Judas sold out for a few pieces of silver. He not only sold his Lord but sold his soul. Pilate did likewise. The word of God gives many illustrations of this truth. God values a soul higher than the world itself."

Edward Patch, of East Liverpool, led the song service.
Newell to Play Rogers.
Newell high school basketball teams are scheduled to meet the Rogers, O., scholastic squads at the latter place tomorrow night.

Highs Tackle Bellaire, Wellsville Quints In Week-End Games

Ceramic Passers Crippled

Dave Feit, Ill, Will be Out of Both Games This Week.

LACKING the services of one of his star sharpshooters, Dave Feit, who is laid up with illness, Coach Joe Hurst and his East Liverpool basketball team will be handicapped as they go into two week-end conflicts with Bellaire and Wellsville teams on the auditorium courts.

Feit is definitely out of the lineup for the Bellaire and Wellsville engagements, the local coach said today, but probably will be back in trim for the last two games of the season next week.

As a result of the illness of Feit, who has been one of the squad's leading point makers, Hurst is casting about for material to fill the vacancy. In all probability he will use Billy McNutt and "Red" Small alternately at the forward post and maybe bring Bob Withrow up from guard once in a while.

While Feit will undoubtedly be missed, the squad should cope both week-end encounters, having defeated each of the visiting teams in previous games this season on foreign courts. Columbus East, a new foe for the Potters, comes to the auditorium next Friday, followed by Cambridge.

This pair of games sizes up as a couple of tough ones and the squad necessarily will have to be up in top form to get over them.

Lindell will be at his regular forward post to start tonight. Lindy has been going great in recent games, his work in the two Steubenville games, especially, being outstanding. Chetwin or Dyke will get the call at center with Withrow and McConville or Menge at the guards.

Tonight's program will start at 7:30 o'clock with a prelude tilt between the Reserves and the Ceramics, a local junior squad.

Wellsville and East Liverpool girls will open tomorrow night's card with their game at 8 o'clock, followed by the boys at 9.

Negotiations have been completed for a game between the local Reserves and the Aliquippa (Pa.) Reserves as a preliminary to the Cambridge contest a week from Saturday.

Trim Baptists, Christians In Sunday School Loop.

Methodist Protestant passers of the Sunday school loop defeated the Baptists, 25-17, and the Presbyterians won from the Christians, 33-24, in league engagements last night on the M. P. court.

Staley, Angus, Dietz and D. Withrow were the principal point makers. Two games are billed tonight on the M. E. floor. Lutherans tackle the Orchard Grove five and Newell takes on the M. E. (A.) combine.

CHESTER LEAGUE MEET TONIGHT

Special meeting of the Chester District basketball league will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Chester city hall.

All teams are requested to have managers or representatives present.

Fight Results

AT WATERBURY, Conn.—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, of Meriden, Conn., outpointed Phil McGraw, Detroit lightweight (10).

A BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Johnny Jadick, Philadelphia, won decision over Henri Dewanker, of France (10).

AT JOHNSTOWN, Pa. — Murray Giltitz, New York light-heavyweight, stopped Gene Baker, of Newark, N. J. (8).

AT NEW YORK—Ossie Bobkin, Detroit, knocked out Ray Rhodibeck (2).

AT ELAM, Pa.—Al Trainor, Philadelphia welterweight, won decision over Young Ketchell, of Chester, Pa. (10).

CONNIE WANTS MORE DOUBLE PLAYS

Joe Boley and Max Bishop are in for an intensive session of training in the fine art of double play making. Connie Mack knows he has a lively pair around the keystone sack, but last season they ranked near the bottom of the list among the double put-out boys. Some sharps figured that this weakness was one of the reasons the A's lost out last year and Connie says it won't happen again.

Odds of 8-5 Say Jackie Fields Will 'Take' Baby Gans Tonight

Boys Have Him Pegged Already as "Uncrowned Champ of the Welterweights."

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Just as, admittedly, the pen is mightier than the sword, so the punch is superior to the roller skate or bicycle ride, and if Jackie Fields doesn't prove it inside of ten heats or less at Madison Square Garden tonight, it won't be because he lacks the inspiration. The boys have him pegged already as "the uncrowned champion of the welterweights" and it all goes to show that it isn't always what you do, but sometimes the way you do it.

A phfft as a featherweight, Fields came here two years ago and couldn't lick the flap of an envelope. He tried to outstride the steppers and arrived nowhere in great haste. Tonight he is replaying the town as a welterweight wow, a lad who lams them and leaves them, and so impressed is the community with all it has heard that, if he beats Baby Joe Gans to the decision, New York probably will award him the championship by acclamation. New York is big that way. It gladly will give you anything it doesn't happen to possess.

A few weeks ago, it got large hearted and gave Max Schmelling the heavyweight championship because he beat Risko. Tonight, it will do as much for Fields in the welterweight division, provided he beats Gans. It might do worse, at that. I remember when Joe Dundee, the champion, was a pretty good fighter but then, I am renowned all over the world as a memory expert, with good, old Addison Sims, the Seattle lumber man, second.

Fields Beats Thompson. A champion fighter who doesn't fight remains a champion but not a fighter. On the face of things, Fields' record lays all over Dundee's like a counterpane. A year ago, they weren't even close but, somehow, things do happen in the course of a year.

For one thing, Dundee accepted a left hook with his countenance from Jack Thompson in a non-tile fight and went out in a punch, prompting most of the boys to line up behind Thompson and sing the tag-day song, entitled you're it, meaning the uncrowned champion. Upon which, Fields beat Thompson and knocked out Pete Meyers, who subsequently knocked out Sergeant Sammy Baker, after Fields himself had knocked out Samuel. It is all very baffling. But it seems to point unerringly, as we say at the servants' entrance, to one conclusion: That Fields, not unlike Benny Leonard, uncovered an overnight punch, concentrated mostly, they say, in a great left hook. Stake yourself to one of those and you have something; couple it was a good straight left and you have almost everything. That is supposed to be Fields' pedigree and, if there is anything in it, the current odds of 8 to 5 on him are not misplaced.

OBERLIN TRIMS RESERVE FIVE

OBERLIN, O., Feb. 15.—Oberlin college won its second Ohio conference basketball tilt out of nine starts here last night, by downing Western Reserve, 33 to 23.

Oberlin took the lead in the first few minutes of the game, but the Clevelanders spurred to tie the score at the end of the half. In the final period, Oberlin jumped into a 10-point lead and held it for the remainder of the game.

Buckeye Trackers In Action

Compete in Quad Meet In First Real Test.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Although five Ohio State varsity teams will see action this weekend, special interest centers in the sixth annual indoor quadrangular meet at Madison, Wis., in which the Buckeyes will compete against Chicago, Northwestern, and Wisconsin.

Although the Bucks took an easy victory from Ohio Wesleyan two weeks ago, the quad meet will be the first real test of the season.

Indoor and outdoor champs of the quadrangular meets last year, the Scarlet and Gray trackers will have a hard row to hoe against their three foes. Most of the training done by the Ohio State team has been done under the Buckeye stadium where the thermometer scorers any temperature more than ten above zero. As a result, the field event men, hurdlers and dash men are under par, while the middle distance and distance athletes are but slightly better off.

In the 40-yard dash, three of the four men who placed last year are back—Root, of Chicago, and Simpson and Rockaway of Ohio State. Gleason, of Chicago, who took the event in 1928, has been lost by graduation. In the hurdles, Rockaway and Pierce of Ohio, Root of Chicago, and Ziege of Wisconsin are all back to renew their argument.

The two mile run should go to Letts of Chicago who has turned 9:49 on the indoor track this year. Wisconsin also looks at this distance with Dilly, Folsom and Wikson in the running. Baker and Donnell of Ohio State, both of whom placed last year, are back again and rated as strong contenders.

Only one man who placed in the mile race last year, has returned. He is Thompson, of Wisconsin, who took third last year, and later placed in the outdoor meet. Moe, another Badger, has done 4:31 in this event, and Williams of Chicago has made the run in 5:30. Ohio State, with Beetham, Wotschak, and Webster, has only an outside opportunity to place.

The Buckeye one-mile relay team has a good chance to cop, with Wisconsin coming close behind. Kriss, Fites, Strother, and Fazakas make up the relay team. The two-mile relay also looks like an Ohio event with Hall, Heintz, Storey and Hays being the probable starters.

Field events are hard to figure for this meet. Tritten and Kruskamp will present Ohio State in the shotput. Wisconsin and Northwestern are expected to split honors in the pole vault, and Frey, of Chicago, is the favorite in the high jump. Frey is co-champ of the Big Ten indoor jumpers.

WOOSTER QUINT SWAMPS KENYON

GAMBIER, O., Feb. 15.—Topping the largest score that has been tallied in Ohio conference basketball circles this season, Wooster college swamped Kenyon here last night, 60 to 29. It was Kenyon's seventh defeat in seven conference games, and Wooster's seventh victory in nine games.

Although handicapped without the services of Captain Paul Beeler, Wooster used two complete teams with equal success. Every man in the game wearing Wooster's colors scored at least two baskets, with the exception of Buehler, second string guard, who accounted for only one.

Don Golden's Packards Win From Caddies

Finish Fast After Close Battle in First Half.

Don Golden's Packards went to the front in the Y league race last night when they knocked off the Cadillacs, 52 to 32.

The Cadillacs made a game of it for the first two periods, but during the second half the Packards set a pace that was fast enough to win. The Cadillacs led in the first quarter, 10 to 8. In the second the Packards forged to the front and were leading, 22 to 18, when the first half was over.

During the third period the Packards began to make their shots count and they had the game in the bag at the end of the third period, leading 39 to 24. In the final quarter the Packards easily maintained their lead. Massey, Golden and Hancock were the big guns for the Packards, while Cooper, Kimas and Beckett played well for the Cadillacs.

Rosey Pansy, Midland Fighter, Plans European Ring Campaign

Flyweight Leaves Here Tomorrow, Sailing Feb. 23 From New York City.

Rosey Pansy, the scrappy little Midland boxer who has been idle for more than a month as a result of injuries sustained in a battle in Youngstown, is scheduled to leave Midland tomorrow on the first leg of a trip to France and Italy. He expects to be gone approximately six months.

Pansy's right mitt has been bandaged since he fractured a bone on Jackie Powers' cranium in one of Al Zilli's Youngstown fights. But the injury has virtually healed and the 112-pounder is confident it will be in normal condition again by the time he reaches Europe.

He will spend a few days with a sister in New Haven, Conn., embarking from New York on Saturday, Feb. 23.

He will go first to Paris, France, where he expects to have a few battles lined up and from the French capital will resume his journey to Rome and meet his parents. His father is a successful business man in Rome.

Accompanying Pansy from New York will be Harry Mosco, an eastern featherweight, and the pair will campaign together through the continent.

Bobby Lehrman, Midland, is Pansy's manager.

CARUSO CHALLENGES HARRY MORRIS

ADDDING a little "zip" to the fight racket here is the announcement today by Matchmaker Ray Founts of the Valley A. C., who is lining up his card for Monday night, Feb. 25, that Nick Caruso, the Midland lightweight, is out with a challenge to Harry Morris, the Weirton flash.

Caruso's challenge, Founts says, follows in the wake of the Midland boy's sensational victory over Johnny Pollock, of Youngstown, at the Eagles here the other night.

As a result of his showing in that battle, the Pennsylvanian is confident that he has enough stuff to take Morris.

Morris and Pollock have met before and there really was not a great deal to choose between them.

Anyone forecasting the outcome of the Caruso-Pollock fight here the other night naturally would have predicted a victory for the Youngstown-er, basing it, logically, on his greater experience.

But Caruso, showing improvement in general ability, boxing, hitting, all around movements, which was nothing short of remarkable considering that the change was wrought in such a short period of time, swarmed all over Pollock, taking the first two rounds of their four-round bout with little difficulty.

Because of the fact that Pollock battled Morris so evenly, Caruso feels that he should be able to handle the Weirton boxer.

Founts said today that no definite arrangements for the proposed match had been completed.

Jack Sharkey Popular in South

By Sid Mercer.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15.—Jack Sharkey, once labeled as a surly cuss and an egotistical blow hard, has developed a benign personality as he approaches his swatting party with William Lawrence Strubling.

You might think that Strubling, as the standard bearer of the south, would be more popular down here than Sharkey. Such is not the case. The fighting scion of the Strubling family is rather clannish in his friendships and seems to regard the general public with a rather haughty air. He appears to be more bored with the business of the Biscayne brawl than Sharkey and not all of the southern votes are being cast for him.

The Bostonian enjoys himself as he mixes work and play and he is a ready mixer with the hot-polit. Strubling gives one the impression of a proud aristocrat who is sacrificing himself on the altar of sectional pride. It's a wrong impression but nevertheless it prevails.

Yesterday afternoon Sharkey entertained a big crowd at the Dog Track for more than a half hour. He boxed two rounds each with Paul Hoffman and Grosso and wanted to do more. Grosso gave the sailor spirited opposition for one round and wanted to quit but Sharkey begged for another round. He went about his other routine tasks briskly and appeared really to enjoy them.

GIANTS AT WORK IN SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 15.—The baseball training season will get under way officially today when the New York Giants limber up at their camp here. Most of the Battery men and a few infielders are on hand. The advance squad from the north was met here last night by a brass band, some 500 citizens of San Antonio and a dozen Giants who had drifted here from various points.

MISS NORELIIUS SETS SWIM MARK

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 15.—Miss Martha Norelius of New York, Olympic swimming star today holds a new world's record of 6 minutes and 29 seconds for 500 yards. She broke her former record by three seconds in a trial swim here last night.

Duquesne Combine Is Booked

Great Pittsburgh Quint Meets Ceramics Tuesday.

MANAGER EARL GREENAWALT of the East Liverpool basketball club today announced completion of arrangements for the appearance of the Duquesne Lafayettees of the Pittsburgh district against the Duquesne Lafayettees of the Pittsburgh district against the Ceramics Tuesday night at the auditorium and this

WATKINS USES SIGN SYSTEM

Unless Bill Watkins' vocal cords show signs of recovery, fans at the Westminst-r-Bethany game tonight will have the novel experience of observing a silent referee.

Watkins' lost his voice last week and up until yesterday could barely speak above a whisper without extraordinary strain.

He was forced to cancel his engagement to work the Steubenville-East Liverpool high school game here. He wanted to cancel with Bethany and Westminster, but Nuss at Bethany and the Westminster outfit as well would have none of it.

"Come down and make signs," Nuss wired Watkins.

announcement, without further embellishment, should be sufficient to convey to local cage followers the idea that there will be something going on in the way of basketball on the local floor.

If anything else is needed, it might be pointed out that the Lafayettees Wednesday night held the Cleveland Rosenblums, first half champions of the American Professional circuit, to a 36-35 victory. The Rosies were one point better, in other words.

This game was played at Steubenville. The Duquesne Lafayettees are playing several games on the Stubber court, meeting leading independent and pro teams and their clash with the Rosies was one of the series.

Despite the fact that the Ceramics have played such clubs as the New York Hawks, the Favorite Knits, Youngstown Big Y, Knickerbockers, teams of established reputations, the engagement Tuesday night will probably be one of the toughest on the list.

OFF TO EUROPE

Rosey Pansy.

He will spend a few days with a sister in New Haven, Conn., embarking from New York on Saturday, Feb. 23.

He will go first to Paris, France, where he expects to have a few battles lined up and from the French capital will resume his journey to Rome and meet his parents. His father is a successful business man in Rome.

Accompanying Pansy from New York will be Harry Mosco, an eastern featherweight, and the pair will campaign together through the continent.

Bobby Lehrman, Midland, is Pansy's manager.

ADDDING a little "zip" to the fight racket here is the announcement today by Matchmaker Ray Founts of the Valley A. C., who is lining up his card for Monday night, Feb. 25, that Nick Caruso, the Midland lightweight, is out with a challenge to Harry Morris, the Weirton flash.

Caruso's challenge, Founts says, follows in the wake of the Midland boy's sensational victory over Johnny Pollock, of Youngstown, at the Eagles here the other night.

As a result of his showing in that battle, the Pennsylvanian is confident that he has enough stuff to take Morris.

Morris and Pollock have met before and there really was not a great deal to choose between them.

JUMPS 7 - FOOT CHASM IN VAIN EFFORT TO SAVE HUMAN TORCH

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Glancing through her apartment window, Mrs. Della Rooney saw Charles Bitter, 65, converted into a flaming torch as his clothing blazed from a broken gas stove connection.

OHIOAN HELD
AS AUTO THIEF

Raymond Van Pelt
Swims River to Escape Police.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Raymond Van Pelt, 23, London, alleged automobile thief, was held in city prison here today following his capture on a West Virginia highway.

Van Pelt, according to detectives, confessed stealing at least eight automobiles, which, he said, netted him $10 or $20 apiece.

Van Pelt swam the Ohio river recently to escape police when they pursued him near Gallipolis.

He said he stole most of the automobiles from Columbus, but also admitted "borrowing" others in different Ohio cities. The youth confessed stealing one from Wooster on January 15, and one in Akron and another from Toledo.

To Lose Temper

LODI, Cal.—First it was a pet deer, then a pair of abalones, and now it's a family of mud hens.

Justice of the Peace J. H. Solkmore forgot his official dignity today and announced that his court must not be used as a game refuge.

A pet deer, attached in a collection suit, was brought into court a few days ago, followed by two abalones as evidence in a game law violation case. But the limit was reached today when two snawking mud hens were carried in as evidence against hunters without a license.

"Take 'em out and fine the prisoners $25," shouted the judge above the squawks of the mud hens.

Do the right thing now—take a cupful of steaming hot Bulgarian Herb Tea twice a week during these danger months. It will assist nature to quickly break up colds, and will fortify your system against the "flu" peril. Bulgarian Herb Tea is recommended by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

LOST 18 POUNDS THRU INDIGESTION; KONJOLA VICTOR

Ohio Resident Describes Relief From Stomach Trouble; Gained 8 Pounds on First Bottle of New Medicine.

MISS GERTRUDE C. HUDSON.

"Oh, that I had known of Konjola sooner; what days and hours of suffering it would have saved me as this medicine worked untold wonders on my system," exclaimed Miss Gertrude C. Hudson, 1306 Summit Street, Columbus, Ohio.

"I steadily lost weight, going from 132 pounds to 104 pounds and was but a shadow of my former self. My appetite was poor and I had to be very careful what I ate. Repeated attacks of indigestion, a sour condition of my stomach, gas pressure and bloating affected my heart—all were the results of stomach trouble. I nearly dosed myself to death with medicines, but each attempt at relief was met with failure.

"My case reached a serious state and as a last chance I began the Konjola treatment. I soon knew that I had found the right medicine and the one that would make me well. I rapidly gained in strength and on the first bottle I put on eight pounds. I completed the treatment and every trace of stomach trouble was ended. I eat anything in any quantity without suffering afterward. Truly, Konjola is a marvelous medicine."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, O., at Carnahan drug stores, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Gen. Ulysses S. Grant's Father Born Here, Records Possessed by Walter B. Hill Show

Newspaper Clippings Preserved in Family For 60 Years.

Preserved in his and his father's families for more than 60 years, Walter B. Hill, the son of the late Col. H. Hill, is the possessor of a 20-foot single column newspaper clipping roll which qualifies as the earliest bit of printed history of East Liverpool attempted by any one living here.

Neatly cut and pasted together the sections of paper are in a wonderful state of preservation. The paper, after six decades, remains a pure, clean white with no suggestion of color change or the tendency to dry rot so frequently discernible in paper kept a long period of time.

Evidently the clippings have been from the Wellsville Union of that period since the author, a G. W. Burns, suggests in one of his paragraphs that should any part of the material in them be used that credit be given the down river publication.

Fawcett Built Cabin.
None now recalls the identity of Mr. Burns. He refers to himself as a stranger who is handicapped by lack of first-hand knowledge of some details concerning the community into which he has come and asks that any matter pertaining to the reminiscences and data which he plans on giving the public be mailed to him, care Box 65, East Liverpool postoffice. It would seem also that he lived somewhere in the East End.

"The undersigned is desirous of preparing as complete a sketch of the early history of East Liverpool as it is possible," he noted at the top of his articles as they were published.

He states that Thomas Fawcett, the town's founder, built first a cabin "not far from the spot of the home of our esteemed citizen, J. G. Gaston, Esq."

This cabin, he goes on to say, "gave way to a hewed log house with oaken window and door frames, which was itself supplanted in 1851 by Mr. Gaston's present dwelling."

Refers To Fawcett's Watermill.
This section of his history was published on Dec. 17, 1867.

Then he tells of the planting of an apple orchard by Fawcett on ground about his home. "It was a large orchard planted in front of his cabin and was long noted for the excellence and abundance of its fruit."

He says also that Fawcett, in 1798, erected "a large watermill, the predecessor of the old frame building now known as Anderson's mill."

He speaks of two huge millstones as the chief machinery in the mill. "Near the edge of the upper one a hole was drilled, and a pole seven feet in length inserted. To the other end of the pole a revolving arm was attached."

"Several persons were necessary to manage this primitive mechanism. Two men would feed the mill, two propel the pole by hand, and the others of a party of a dozen or so would speed the work by grasping the rope at the end of the pole."

Grant's Grandfather a Shoemaker.
In his initial article he declares that the grandfather of President Ulysses S. Grant lived here where the inference is from his account that his son, the father of the later general, was born. His viewpoint of the tradition is as follows:

Twenty-foot Roll Qualifies as History of City.

"Among the earliest settlers of this township was a man by the name of Isaac Kelly. He located about two miles above our place, not far from the Pennsylvania line."

"Of his children a daughter married a widower, Noah Grant, a worthy shoemaker. Day after day sitting on his humble bench stitching the coarse leather of the day, driving his pegs and occasionally practicing the healing art, doubtless he never dreamed that a grandson of his would ever earn for himself a fame that would live while human governments endure."

"Nevertheless it is true. Noah Grant was the grandfather of Gen. U. S. Grant."

"The spot on which stood the cabin in which the father of our general was born is now marked by the vestiges of the old stone chimney."

Predict Grant's Election.

"When our fellow townsman, Col. Hill, was stationed in Cincinnati in 1861 the father of Gen. Grant called upon him to inquire concerning his relatives near East Liverpool. He stated that the first sermon he ever heard preached was delivered on the site of our town, in the year 1799, and that in the year 1805 his father removed to Deerfield, Stark county."

"The campaign biographers of our distinguished general who will undoubtedly borrow this item of national interest will please give credit to 'The Wellsville Union.' Liverpool township will assert her claim at the point of a steel pen of being the birthplace of the father of, it may be, the next president of the United States."

Published in the closing days of 1867 and following the attempt to impeach Andrew Johnson, then the president of the country, Gen. Grant was at the moment in the same position of Herbert Hoover about a year ago this time—the almost certain nominee of his party for the first office in the land. The nomination was made in the summer of 1868.

And so Burns, taking cognizance of the story going the rounds that Grant's father was the son of Noah Grant, who had married the daughter of Isaac Kelly, a settler near the state line, put in print what was then told him by the older inhabitants of the community.

The clippings were doubtless cut by Col. Hill himself and carefully cared for by him until they came into the possession of his son, Walter B. Hill.

Tick Tock of Prison Clock Like Hammer Beats in Death House, Says Reporter

Writer, in Line of Duty, Sees Four Electrocuted.

By James L. Kilgallen.
(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service).

NEW YORK.—What is more dramatic than the ticking of a prison clock five minutes before the electrocution of a human being? Offhand I can't think of anything that makes the old beat more like a hammer.

You stand there, within earshot of the clock, and you know that in five minutes you will see a man—or a woman, as the case may be—murdered. Legally murdered, of course, but somehow you just can't help feeling afterward that it was murder just the same.

Tick, tick, tick, tick, tick—go the seconds. And oh, how slowly!

Covered Chapman Execution.
I have seen four persons electrocuted, not by choice but in the line of duty. Recently I sat with other newspapermen in the death chamber of Rockview penitentiary, near Bellefonte, Pa., and witnessed the execution of Paul Jaworski, the "killer," and Calvin D. James, a youthful bootlegger-slayer. A little over a year ago I sat in the Sing Sing prison death chamber and saw Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray sent into eternity by a man-made bolt of electricity. Prior to that I "covered" one other execution—the hanging of Gerald Chapman. That completes my list, and I am not eager to add to it.

How vividly one recalls these terrible ending of mis-spent careers! And how vividly is the ticking of the prison clock association with these memories in each case!

Last Moments Sad.

The last moments. Oh, how sad. I can visualize Gerald Chapman as I type these lines—a slim, pale, dark-haired man of about 35, about five feet seven, making a final plea before the Connecticut pardon board at the prison in Hartford while the clock ticked away the fatal minutes. "I'm not going to be alive very long," said Chapman, dramatically pointing a slim hand at the prison clock. "Just about eight hours, for I know you're not going to pardon me. I must go, for the good of society."

And Chapman was right. He wasn't alive much longer. The seven men of the pardon board, including the governor, listened to his words gravely. But they did not stay the execution, and he died that night. "Game-ly," the reporters wrote. Why is it they nearly all die "game"? That's another story.

Death Five Minutes Away.
The night Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray "went" at Sing Sing a group of writers who were about to witness the double execution stood in the office of Warden Lewis E. Lawes and bombarded him with questions concerning the tragic events then imminent. And then, suddenly, the questioning ceased. Almost intuitively everybody seemed to realize that the fateful hour—11 p. m.—was at hand.

Only five minutes away. The prison clock, ticking away loudly amid the sudden silence, beat that fact into the eardrums of the assembled men. "Well men, it's time to go in," said the warden with a sigh.

Tick, tick, tick, tick, tick went the clock as the reporters shook themselves together.

Going in! Into the death house! In five minutes, exactly, for those things go on time, we would see a woman deliberately, albeit legally, murdered. What must her thoughts be at this moment? Was the priest with her? Would she collapse? Would any of us collapse?

How significant that clock on the wall seemed as we passed in! The death penalty originated among primitive savages by whom it was used to eliminate their unfit—that is, the deformed, crippled, insane, aged and others, including the overfat.

Warden Lawes, who has seen 114 men and one woman, executed, is a vigorous opponent of capital punishment, although years ago he believed in it. He now says:

"I realize that the most horrible crime that can be committed is the killing of a human being, and, likewise, the most horrible punishment that can be imposed is the killing of a human being."

"The first the community could not prevent; the second is accomplished with premeditation and deliberation. Executions, like war, brutalize men; the more that take place, the greater the number of people there are to execute."

"The United States is a nation that leads the world in scientific progress, that boasts achievement in the adjustment of industrial relations and in dealing with complex social and welfare problems, yet hangs its head in shame at 11,000 homicidal deaths each year."

"In the face of this why do we cling to capital punishment?"

Executions on Time.
At 6:55 a. m. a few weeks back I was one of the twenty who stood on the first floor of the "electrocution building" at Rockview penitentiary, Pa.

On the wall was the ubiquitous clock.

Tick, tick, tick, tick, tick, it went.

The place was so silent one could almost hear his own heart beat. Five minutes to go. Now four. Now three.

And then a voice:

"Come men, upstairs—it's time now."

And right on time, 7 a. m. Jaworski came in—oh, what a pitiable figure—and he was electrocuted. And, with the customary dispatch, the second victim, young James, was shuffled in. And he, too, was electrocuted.

The reporters filed out. And as we left, this is what smote my ear drums:

Tick, tick, tick, tick, tick.

LINDY SOARED OVER PUGHTOWN HOME OF FIANCEE'S GRANDFATHER

New Jersey newspapers are happy in their comments of the choosing of a young girl from that state by Col. Lindbergh, ace of ocean fliers, for his bride.

Cleveland papers likewise are noting the fact that the mother of Anne Spencer Morrow was a native of the Forest city. By the same token the residents of Hancock county, W. Va., and those hailing from Fairview (Pughtown) will take similar pride in the additional fact that Miss Morrow's grandfather, James Morrow, lived in that village and taught in the famous school that once flourished there.

Lindbergh, when he passed over East Liverpool during the summer of 1927, some months after his epic trip across the Atlantic ocean while on his way down the river to Steubenville, was high enough in the air to glimpse the country where once the grandparents of his future wife lived and where an uncle, Gen. John Morrow was born.

Sometime perhaps when the wedded pair take to looking up the places of their ancestors a Lindbergh day may be arranged for Fairview.

Having become the ambassador of good will to the nations of Europe, Mexico and Central and South America, it would appear that up to the present the career of Lindbergh has been that from ambassador to ambassador.

In France he was a guest of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick. On his second epic flight to Mexico he went straight into the household of Ambassador Morrow in Mexico City, there to meet his matrimonial fate.

In an ambassadorial way there seems little left for Lindbergh to conquer until the time when perhaps in the course of events he may be given one of the positions with some foreign country with which his career has been so marked.

Bathing and Melo
just go together

The man, woman or child who bathes and doesn't use Melo to soften the water doesn't know what they are missing. Melo softens hard water. It makes a delightfully sudsy bath. It doesn't let the water form a dirty ring around the tub. That's good news to women who scrub off the dirty ring!

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleanser, with or without soap. Melo saves soap, too, from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. Use it wherever you need soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

VANGUARD

A Highly Amusing Story of a Romance
Aboard a Millionaire's Yacht.

By Arnold Bennett

And, far more important, he had not resented her inexcusable attempt to cozen the wireless operator and change the destination of the yacht. He had seen the incident simply and benevolently, ignoring her naughtiness. She had wanted to go to Rome and he would let her go to Rome. He had imagined her understanding the force of her tremendous desire for clothes, and had decreed that she should have clothes. There was no meanness in him. He might be a brute, but he was not a mean brute. Thinking of all that her intimate old friend, his wife, had related to her, she began to suspect that there might be two sides to the disturbing story of his domestic life—such as it was. She felt happy in the singular fact that she had been carried off in the yacht.

"What was that about a jealous rival?" Lord Furber murmured the question as he lay back on the smoothed pillow, conscious of the taste of aspirin in his mouth. "Nothing," said Harriet. "Go to sleep. Dressing comfortable?"

He seemed to snigger magnanimously. He was not a man to pick up and critically examine every chance, impulsive word that slipped out of a woman's mouth; not he. He would treat women as women. Yes, she would simply love being his confidential secretary.

He settled himself in the bunk, while she restored the phial of aspirin to her bag. She was happy in appreciating and in being appreciated.

There was a quiet knock at the door. Harriet answered it.

"Who was that?" Lord Furber asked, when she had shut the door again. He had not heard the voices.

"Mr. Sutherland," remarked the baron.

"Oh! I thought he always went to bed and snored in times of crisis," remarked the baron.

"He's just going to bed. But he wanted to know first how you were getting on."

"Yes, I should say he did. It's to his interest to keep me alive. If I'd gone and died on him he'd have looked a bit soft, wouldn't he? * * * Manslaughter, at the best. Nobody could say he was acting in self-defense."

"No," Harriet agreed, smiling, and anxious to soothe. "Well, Good night."

"I say!" the baron imperiously called her back. "Ye can do something for me now—at once. Ye know my secretaries have no hours. At least the only limit is twenty-four."

"Quite, I quite understand," said the new secretary eagerly.

"Well, Catch Sutherland before he goes to bed again."

"Yes. What about? What am I to say to him?"

Fired!

"Spin him the yarn. Tell him the tale. Put him in a good temper about me. I want him to wake up well-disposed toward me tomorrow morning. Say I've treated ye throughout with the greatest respect, and never had any evil designs on ye. Say I didn't deserve to be knocked down."

"Oh! He knows that now."

"Anyhow, tell him I forgive him. No ill-will at all. Tell him I think very highly of him as a city financier. Tell him I know now about his luggage being brought on board. I didn't till it was too late. That was one of Veruda's bits of embroidery on the bare scheme. Very pretty and thoughtful, of course, but we should have better if we'd left it out. Wants a bit of explaining, that luggage does. Scheme was wild enough without it. Still—"

"But what's the point?"

"Point!" cried the baron, sitting straight up with one bound of his torso. "Point! I've got to get something out of that chap. That's why he's here. I never wanted in all my born days to get anything out of anybody as much as I want to get something out of him. I'd sooner lose every penny of all my millions than I'd fall with Sutherland. I could always make millions, but if I fall with Sutherland, millions of money won't be any use to me. Got it?"

"Yes," Harriet softly answered.

The baron's tone was so serious, so sincere, so passionate, so startlingly violent that Harriet knew at once that she was on the very edge of the mystery of the strange proceedings of the Vanguard. And she thrilled with a delighted expectancy. She foresaw hours of marvelous excitement. She was happier perhaps, than she had ever been in her life.

"And I—" the baron's voice was raised again. "She stopped him with a gesture."

"Will you please remember you're just had a dose of aspirin, and I want you to go to sleep? If you go on like that, how can you hope to go to sleep?"

"All right!" The baron was obedient to her counsel and lay back. "Run along and do as I tell ye." His voice was now tired.

"Just let me know first exactly what it is you want to get out of Mr. Sutherland," said Harriet, with an air of casualness.

"Have ye gone stark, staring mad?" the baron asked sleepily, with shut eyes.

"No, I'm only asking for information which of course I must have."

"Well, ye won't have it. Get away and carry out instructions." The baron still spoke sleepily, half-humorously.

"I'll get away," Harriet answered negligently, even superiorly. "But either you'll tell me what I ought to know or I shan't carry out instructions. I absolutely refuse to be your confidential secretary if you won't be confidential with me."

"I shan't tell ye, and ye're now but an impudent woman."

"Very well. I resign my post."

Lord Furber sat tempestuously up again.

"Go to—the Five Towns!" he shouted.

She inquired, with exasperating calmness:

"Why the Five Towns?"

"Because they're worse than Halifax! You're dismissed. On the spot."

Septimus Sutherland rose early, and his freshness matched the freshness of the morning. For although he had had a disturbed night, he had contrived to get quite a fair amount of sleep, sleep being one of his specialties. If he was proud of being a "blue" he was also proud of his Napoleonic skill in composing himself to slumber at nearly any suitable moment. He had slept well before knocking Lord Furber down, and, callously, he had slept well afterward, even though his cabin was impregnated with the odor of the aseptic which had been employed upon Lord Furber's damaged head.

Further, being aboard a yacht, he had dressed for the part, as well as he could, in white flannels and shoes and rich jacket which his university blueship entitled him to wear, together with a yachting cap offered to him by an eager junior steward.

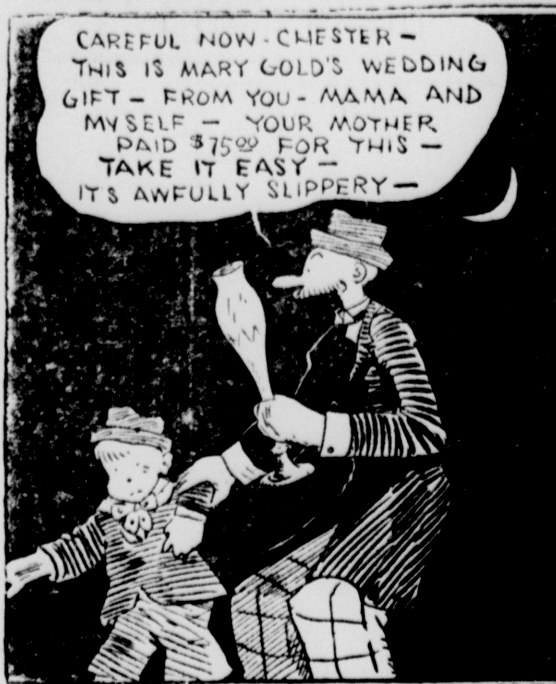

The sun had lately risen upon a calmer Mediterranean, whose various shades harmonized with Septimus' jacket.

The decks of the Vanguard had already been swabbed down, and now many hands, in fatigue-overalls of yellow, were busy here and there polishing her endless brass. Not one of the hands seemed to be in the least preoccupied by the astonishing events of the night. Their day's program was proceeding precisely as usual, and they were chatting quietly among themselves about the dismal matters which constituted the main interest of their lives.

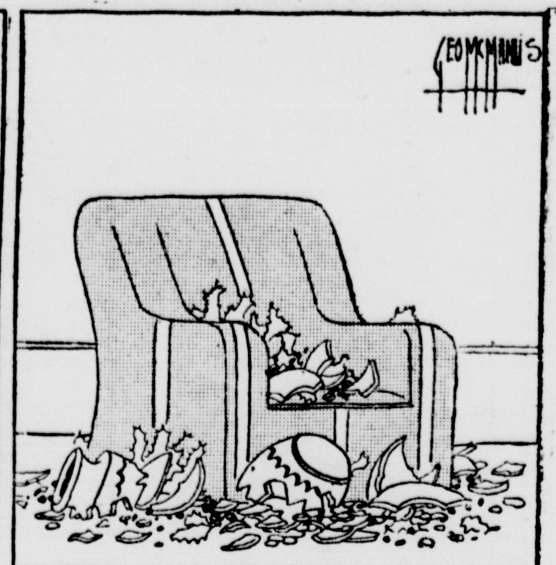

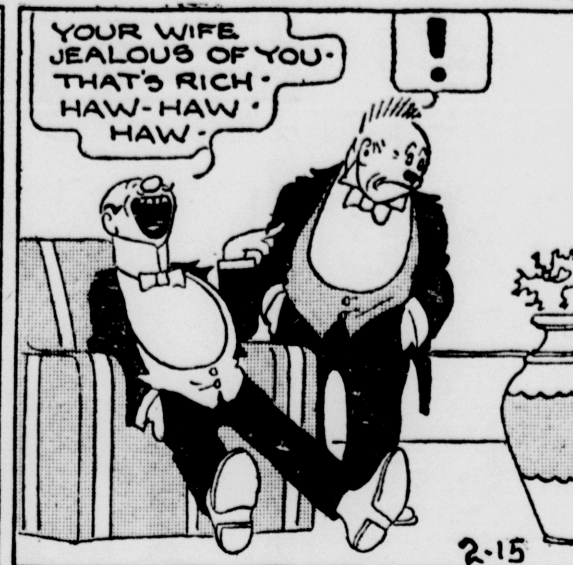

The scene mightily pleased Mr. Sutherland. He loved order, routine, tidiness, cleanliness; and it delighted him to think that whatever might happen on board, the regularity of the yacht's toilette could never be disturbed. Reflecting upon certain defects which he constantly noticed in the functioning of his own household, he wished that all housemistresses could take a course of study in the housekeeping of a really smart yacht such as the Vanguard.

LINDY ADMITS HIS ENGAGEMENT

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15.—Col. Charles Lindbergh for the first time yesterday admitted his engagement to Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico.

He indicated that he would have a little "private flying" to do within the next few days and asked that if he were missing a day or even several days that no searching parties be sent out to look for him. He declined to admit that the "private flying" might be a swift trip to Mexico City for a visit with his fiancée.

But he refused absolutely to give his schedule between now and the time, a week hence, when he expects to start plotting air lines between New York and the Pacific coast.

INSANE KILLER TO GO TO LIMA

CANTON, O., Feb. 15.—Sheriff Ed Gibson announced that he expected to take Edward "Eddie" Kaltenbaugh to the state hospital for the criminally insane, at Lima, today.

Kaltenbaugh, a 21-year-old farm hand who killed his employers, Mr. and Mrs. John Oser, of near Canal Fulton, was pronounced insane by a jury yesterday.

Distribution of the $1,000 reward offered for Kaltenbaugh's capture is to be considered in common pleas court today. The capture was made by Sheriff Gibson and Deputy Al Hall. Judge A. M. Agler announced that the special jurors called for next Monday, the date scheduled for Kaltenbaugh's trial, have been excused.

"Owa-Ton Na Surely A Blessing To Me," Says Local Man

To Really Appreciate What It Does In Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders, It Must Be Tried.

To the Laboratory representative, who is now located at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th street, each day come many people who tell of the good this fine old Indian Remedy is doing. Men and women, young and old, in all walks of life, laud this Herbal Discovery for the harmless way it removes injurious poisons from the body, which cause kidney, liver and stomach disorders; rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general run down condition of health. It is made of roots, herbs, barks and berries and does not contain harmful drugs or alcohol.

Among the many right here in East Liverpool, who recommend Owa-Ton-Na to their many friends is Mr. Ross Ferello, 1065 Elmtree street, dry pan operator at the American Vitriol Products company. He says, "Anyone who is suffering with stomach and kidney trouble certainly should try Owa-Ton-Na. For sometime I have been having a lot of trouble with my stomach. Food would sour and cause me to have terrible gas and belching spells. Food just seemed to lay in my stomach like a lump of lead, and caused me no end of distress."

"I would try all kinds of medicine but nothing seemed to do much good. I guess my kidneys were in pretty bad condition too, because I used to have terrible back aches and was forced to get up at night to relieve my kidneys. I just got to the point where I felt tired out all the time. Sleep didn't do me much good. I would get up in the morning as tired as I was when I went to bed; but thanks to Owa-Ton-Na, that is all changed now."

"My bowels are acting regularly, my stomach acts fine and my kidneys are 100% better than they were. I get up in the morning with new pep and I certainly feel like a different man."

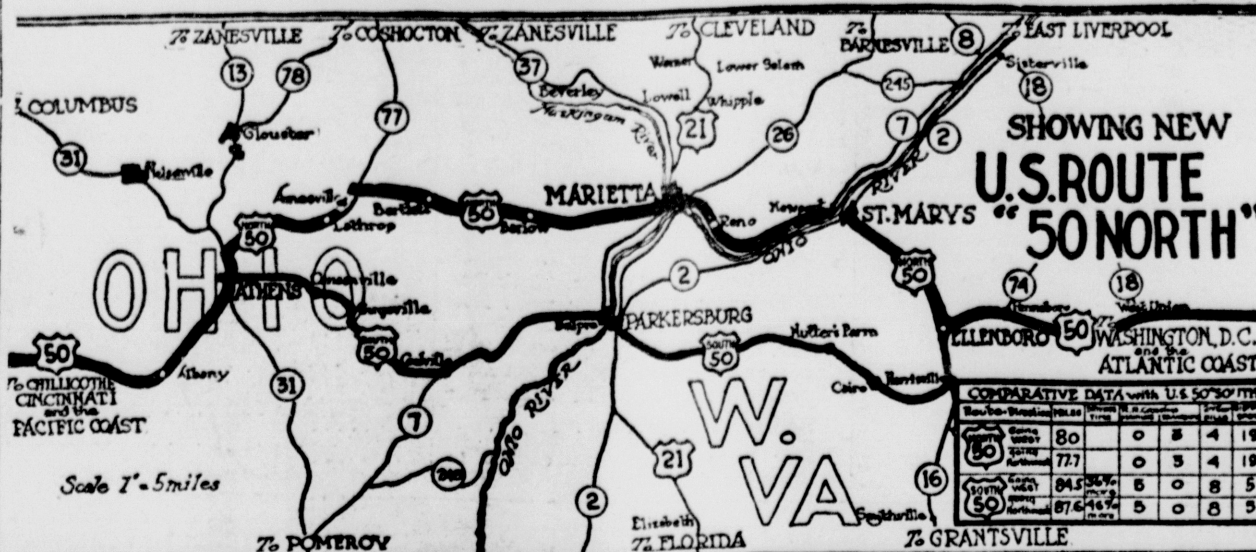

Mr. Ross Ferello

Mr. Ferello is but one of the thousands who have remarkable success with Owa-Ton-Na. Even though Owa-Ton-Na has been recently introduced in East Liverpool, it has hundreds of enthusiastic friends who tell of the good it has done. If you are suffering with any of the conditions for which Owa-Ton-Na is recommended, you should at least give it a trial and learn for yourself the good it can do.

Why not call today at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th street, and have a talk with the special laboratory representative who will be glad to tell you of the merits of Owa-Ton-Na, and about the good it has done in thousands of cases! Owa-Ton-Na is also obtainable at Carnahan's East End Store and Newell, W. Va. Store.

NEW "SHORT ROUTE" INTO WASHINGTON, D. C.

Completion of the Ohio river road improvement between Marietta and Bellair will establish a close connection between the Lincoln highway, officially known as U. S. Route No. 30, and a new road known as U. S. Route No. 50 North, between Athens, O., and Ellenboro, W. Va.

The "short route" which begins at Athens passes through Marietta and thence follows the river to St. Marys,

W. Va., where it crosses on the new bridge recently completed. The road includes a new 17-mile concrete boulevard built along the river between Marietta and St. Marys.

The new "short route" shows a saving in mileage of 45 miles for motorists going on west from Athens, and 9.9 miles for those going to Columbus and points north and west. The proposed No. 50 North shows a saving of 36 per cent for westbound and 46 per cent for northbound traffic over the older route.

There are 359 five-degree or greater curves on the old U. S. No. 50 now U. S. No. 50 South against 194 on the newer route. Forty-eight of these 265 curves are "blind," while only 14 on the newer route prevent full vision ahead. There are five main line railroad crossings on the then Route No. 50 as compared to but three branch line crossings on the new. Twice as many second gear hills and a larger percentage of gravel road further slowed up travel on the old route.

The proposed route had seven direct feeder roads, to one on the south road, and there were 19 recognized points of historic or other unusual interest, all marked plainly for the convenience of the stranger on the short route—while the older route afforded only five, none being marked.

With this convincing evidence, formal request for a U. S. Route classification was inevitable. And its granting was equally inevitable. So now U. S. No. 50 North branches from U. S. No. 50 at Ellenboro and comes down through West Virginia's hills to St. Marys; crosses the short auto bridge there, and thence to historic Marietta, the cradle of the northwest territory. From there one may go on west over No. 50 North to Athens, or branch off to Columbus on No. 31. Or he may go north over No. 21 to Cleveland; No. 37 and No. 77 to Zanesville; No. 7 to East Liverpool or Cincinnati. The opening of this route shortens the trip between Washington, D. C., to points west and northwest as well as avoiding much snow in winter, many railroad crossings and heavy grades. And beyond these purely mechanical advantages it makes easily available to the motorists some of America's most alluring history and scenery.

CONSUMERS' MEAT MARKET IS SOLD

Purchase of the Consumer's Meat Market, in the City Market house, by Simon Brothers, of Canton, was announced today. The new owners will open the shop Saturday. The company maintains other stores in Canton and Steubenville.

To keep the port open as long as possible this winter the Swedish government has stationed an ice-breaking boat near Lulea.
